Chapter 329: The Divine Expansion

Sung Jin-Woo’s evolution with the third divine jewel signaled not only a shift in his power but also an unprecedented expansion of his influence. The multiverse resonated with his divine presence, and his creations flourished as never before.

The Expansion of the Divine Realm

With his newfound power, Sung Jin-Woo decided to expand the Absolute Realm further. He created new layers of existence to house and nurture his ever-growing subjects and creations.

New Layers of the Absolute Realm:

1. Aetherium Skyfields:

A realm above the Divine Castles, where the sky is a tapestry of stars and flowing mana streams.

Home to new celestial beings like Mana Seraphs, winged entities who guard the flow of divine energy across realms.

2. Primordial Forests of Eternity:

Vast forests with divine trees larger than mountains, each bearing fruits of immortality and wisdom.

Inhabited by Celestial Dryads and Guardian Treants, who ensure the balance of nature.

3. Ethereal Seas of Life:

Oceans of shimmering divine water, teeming with bioluminescent creatures and aquatic deities.

Source of life-giving water for all realms, connected to the Purifier Trees planted in the Demon Realm and beyond.

4. The Radiant Plains:

A serene, infinite plain where divine cattle, livestock, and birds roam freely.

Serves as the primary sustenance hub for Sung Jin-Woo’s civilization, managed by divine caretakers.

5. Celestial Forgefields:

Where divine tools and weapons are crafted by Celestial Forgemasters, using the materials imbued with Sung Jin-Woo’s divinity.

Strengthening the Divine Armada

Sung Jin-Woo also turned his attention to his Divine Armada, ensuring its readiness for any potential threats, no matter how distant.

Enhancements:

Divine Armored Mechs:

Upgraded with self-regenerating armor and embedded with fragments of Sung Jin-Woo’s power for autonomous decision-making.

Warships:

Equipped with dimensional cannons capable of obliterating entire realms of malevolent invaders.

Troop Upgrades:

Shadowkins, Dragonkins, and Apostles now wield weapons crafted from the Celestial Forgefields, enhancing their strength tenfold.

Cultivating Divine Life

The new realms also served as incubation grounds for Sung Jin-Woo’s next wave of creations. He devised new forms of life to populate and protect these realms, spreading his divinity even further.

New Divine Lifeforms:

1. Solar Gryphons: Majestic creatures with radiant golden feathers, capable of harnessing solar energy.

2. Shadow Leviathans: Oceanic beasts born from the Ethereal Seas, protectors of aquatic realms.

3. Aether Stags: Elegant creatures that roam the Aetherium Skyfields, their antlers glowing with celestial energy.

The Divine Triad’s Response

Ashborn and Sung Su-Ho witnessed the vast expansion of Sung Jin-Woo’s realms and power with admiration.

“Sung Jin-Woo has transcended beyond anything we could have imagined,” Ashborn said, his celestial wings shimmering. “His vision reshapes the multiverse.”

Sung Su-Ho nodded. “He ensures that all life, even in the farthest corners of existence, thrives under his protection.”

Sung Jin-Woo’s Vision

Sitting on his throne in the Umbra Citadel, Sung Jin-Woo reflected on the growth of his creations. His divine network had expanded to the point where no realm, no creature, and no life was untouched by his influence.

“This is only the beginning,” he whispered. “The multiverse will not just survive—it will flourish, united and protected for all eternity.”

As his words echoed through the Absolute Realm, a new era of divine prosperity began, with Sung Jin-Woo at its heart as the eternal God of Creation, Life, and Abundance.
